The college student drinking prevention field has grown a great deal – let's look at some early highlights

Fry (1945)

- "Wine is often served at fraternity dinners in the hope that members will learn to appreciate proper wines with food." (p. 244)
- "Although milk and soft drinks are extremely popular in American colleges – the consumption of them being greater than other beverages – a special snobbism is sometimes to be associated with the appreciation and knowledge of fine wines." (p. 244)

Fry (1945)

- Warns that a "state of intoxication" could be the primary purpose of some events.
- Discusses the opportunity for returning veterans to attend college, and speculates on the role alcohol might play related to coping when under pressure in the college setting.

Larger, even national studies, investigate the issue

Moving beyond the Tiers of effectiveness to compiling a comprehensive strategic plan

College Alcohol Intervention Matrix (College AIM)

Overarching Goal of College AIM

Increase the likelihood that research will inform interventions to address drinking on campuses by providing a framework for schools to compare and select evidence-based intervention strategies.

Two Development Teams

Individual Strategies

- Mary E. Larimer
- Jessica M. Cronce
- Jason R. Kilmer

University of Washington

Environmental Strategies

- Traci L. Toomey
- Toben F. Nelson
- Kathleen M. Lenk

University of Minnesota

Development Process

- Phase I: identifying interventions to be included in CollegeAIM, finalizing dimensions on which they would be evaluated, and developing coding system
- Phase II: Identifying, reviewing, and rating the substantial research literature on college alcohol interventions
 - Ultimately, rated nearly 60 interventions on multiple dimensions

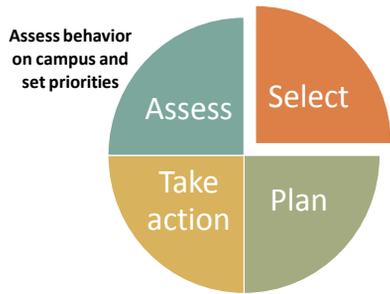

Decision Parameters

- Relative Effectiveness – insufficient, not effective, limited, moderate, higher
- Amount /Quality of Research – 0, +, ++, +++, +++++
- Relative Monetary Costs for Program and Staff for Adoption and Implementation/ Maintenance – lower, mid-range, higher
- Relative Magnitude of Barriers – higher, moderate, lower
- Staffing Expertise – policy advocate, coordinator, health professional
- Strategy Level – federal, state, local, college
- Public Health Reach – broad vs. limited
- Targeted Population – underage, all students, individuals, small groups
- Research Population – college vs. general
- Short/Long-term Effects (individual-level only) – short-term effects (yes/no), long-term effects (yes/no), not assessed
- Primary Modality (individual-level only) – individual, group, online

NIAAA's CollegeAIM

- How can school and/or coalitions use CollegeAIM?
 - Review individual and environmental strategies to compare approaches
 - Find new evidence-based options to replace less effective strategies or address gaps
 - Anyone reviewing CollegeAIM can use the interactive strategy planning worksheet to select a combination of approaches based on needs and budget

See brief descriptions and additional ratings for each environmental-level strategy on the summary table beginning on page 10.
 Effectiveness ratings are based on observational research to evaluate targeted outcomes. Cost ratings are based on a comparison across research-based strategies of the relative program and staff costs for adoption, implementation, and maintenance of a strategy. Actual costs will vary by institution, depending on size, existing programs, and other program and community features. Barriers to implementation are based on cost and complexity, among other factors. Public health reach refers to the number of students that a strategy affects. Strategies with a reach reach affect all students or a large group of students (i.e., all students) strategies with a focused reach affect individuals in a small group of students (e.g., residential dorms). Research amount/quality refers to the number and design of studies on which a strategy is based. *Strategy does not seem to be an alcohol available, one of the most effective ways to decrease alcohol use and its consequences.

Neo's school is targeting driving under the influence (DUI) with a wrecked car display. His school is considering adding either a "beer goggles" simulation or a bystander intervention program

Implications for coalitions

Implications for coalitions

- Coalitions can bring key stakeholders (both on- and off-campus) to the table
- Many of the environmental strategies require the involvement of off-campus partners
- Reduce barriers to disseminating best practices by raises awareness of “what works”
- Any one thing we do is a part of an overall puzzle

Individually-focused approached must be packaged with environmentally-focused approaches,
and vice-versa
